Where Top Law Firms Turn for Wise (Banking) Counsel

Widely known as “lawyer’s lawyers,” Theodora Oringer PC is a Southern California firm with more than 50 attorneys, three offices and a litany of high-profile cases—all the way from a headline-grabbing D.C. political scandal to contentious naming rights for a professional baseball team.

In 2018, when Theodora Oringer was planning to add 30 people, the firm’s leadership turned to their bankers at Western Alliance’s Torrey Pines Bank.

Noted President and CEO Todd Theodora: “We’ve come to rely on Torrey Pines Bank to supply the capital and wise counsel we require to be successful. We were able to achieve significant short-term growth without missing a beat.”
